Forsyth County News

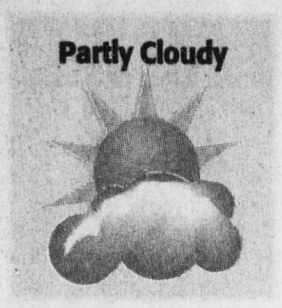

Your "Hometown Paper" Since 1908

Vol. 88, No. 129 WEDNESDAY OCTOBER 29, 1997

*01 F006130 03/23/98
GO DAWGS!!!
NEWSPAPER GEORGIA
* UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA

ATHENS GA 30602

Partly Cloudy

Fair skies; partly cloudy.
Highs in the 60s.
Lows in the 30s.

THIS ISSUE

Copyright © 1997 Forsyth County News

Opinion

Cartoonists' views on the news.
Page 10A

Sports

Another view on the World Series Game Seven.
Page 2B

LAKE LANIER LEVELS

Date	Level
Oct. 24	1064.88 ft
Oct. 25	1064.76 ft
Oct. 26	1065.10 ft
Oct. 27	1067.00 ft
Normal	1071.00 ft

Events

Fall-time happenings in, around Cumming.
Page 9A, 10A, 12A

INDEX

Abby....13A
Business....11A
Classifieds....5B
Deaths....3A
Events....12A
Horoscope....13A
Legals....3B
Opinion....14A
Schools....5A
Sports....1B

COMING FRIDAY

ENTERTAINMENT PAGE

Cartoons, Soap Opera Updates, Critics Corner, Jill Jackson's Hollywood, Country Music all in Friday's edition.

Missed paper policy:
For a replacement paper call 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Wednesday and Friday, and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Sunday – 887-3126.

90994 04001

Search for Levi Frady's killer is continuing

Hotline: 1-800-432-9284 set up

By Beth L. Chester
Staff Writer

Investigators searching for 11-year-old Levi Frady's assailant say they have not settled on a suspect in the case, but Dawson County Sheriff Billy Carlisle says agents won't stop until the person responsible is behind bars.

"We're still out there working very hard, and we will not quit until this case is solved," Carlisle said.

Sometime Tuesday police will begin passing out fliers asking for anyone with information about the murder to come forward and call a special hotline which will be monitored around the clock. That number is 1-800-432-9284. Carlisle expects a reward fund will be set up as well.

The last person believed to have seen Levi alive, officials say, was the classmate whose home Levi rode his bike to on the afternoon of Oct. 22. He was reportedly on his way home when he disappeared.

The next morning, Levi's twin sister, Laci, and their mother, Marilyn Parkman, found the bicycle about a mile from their family's home. The sixth grader's body was found in a Dawson County forest around 2:30 p.m. on Thursday.

Although more than a dozen agents from the Georgia Bureau of Investigation, Forsyth County Sheriff's Department and Dawson County Sheriff's Department spent their weekend canvassing the boy's Burruss Mill Road neighborhood for leads in the case, Carlisle said authorities still haven't been able to talk to the boy's father, Milton Frady.

That's because they can't find him. The 37-year-old has been on the run from police since a bench warrant was issued for his arrest in 1995.

See SEARCH, Page 2A

Photo/Tom Brooks

Weekend's washing rains
E.H. Reid looks at this damage along Majors Road west of Ga. 400. Majors Road remained closed Monday. The damage resulted after the weekend's rains. Due to rains, McCoy Circle and Trammel Road had to be closed for the weekend. Other roads closed for several hours during the flash-flooding, included Chamblee Gap, Old Federal Road, Nicholson Road, Shiloh Road and Stoney Point Road. According to Forsyth County engineer Tim Allen, McCoy Circle is scheduled for extensive reworking next year, which should prevent flooding in that area when the work is completed.

School 'still reeling, in shock' after child's death

By Michael Kurtz
Staff Writer

Students and faculty of North Forsyth Middle School tried to get back to business as usual Monday. But it wasn't easy.

"We are still reeling like this community is," said principal Jane Fuqua. "We're in shock."

The fun and innocence of the students was shattered last week when the body of sixth grader Levi Frady was found in Dawson Forest.

Frady disappeared Wednesday, apparently on his way home from a friend's house.

On Thursday, family and friends searched frantically in the area surrounding his Burruss Mill home. The only sign of Frady was a bicycle found in a ditch off Little Mill Road, by his twin sister, Laci.

It wasn't until three hunters stumbled upon the body of the 11-year-old that Frady's fate was known.

See SCHOOL, Page 2A

Bowen rejoins commission; Jenkins is chair

By LeAnne T. Bell
Corporate Editor

Bill Jenkins was elected Monday to continue serving as chairman of the Forsyth County Board of Commissioners through the end of the calendar year.

Commissioner Julian Bowen, former chairman, returned to the commission table for its first regular meeting since his Oct. 24 acquittal in Superior Court where he had faced charges related to providing false information on county building permits prior to his election. A Forsyth County jury found him not guilty.

The verdict paved the way for Bowen to return to the board from which he had been suspended by Gov. Zell Miller since his indictment. Miller had appointed local dentist Bob McGuinn to fill the District 5 post until Bowen's case was finalized.

After Jenkins announced Bowen had expressed a desire to step aside as chairman. Jenkins advised he would continue as interim chairman until the board could elect a new chairman.

Later in the meeting, Commissioner Andy Anderson made a motion to elect Jenkins as chairman, followed by a second from Commissioner Lamar Suddeth. It was unanimously passed.

During discussion of the adoption of the meeting's agenda, Commissioner John Kieffer asked if fellow board members were

See COMMISSION, Page 2A

Bus stop issue leads to talk of school responsibility

By Jennifer Eskew
Associate Editor

A follow-up discussion over the bus stop issues raised by three groups of parents at the Oct. 16 Board of Education meeting turned into a broader discussion of the responsibilities of the school.

Superintendent Dr. Allene Magill and transportation director Carlton Allen reported to the board that four people conducted an inspection of the three bus stops that parents said they considered unsafe.

Sharon McHugh, Steve and Marcia Simon and Jeff and Lisa Mason asked the board to change their bus stops for reasons that included not being able to see their child at the stop, being near speeding cars and the stop being located in a blind spot.

The three sets of parents all live in different areas of the county.

In response, Magill and Allen asked two people from the Georgia State Patrol, one from the Forsyth County Sheriff's Office and one from the Forsyth County Planning Department to inspect the sites.

"They did not see a need in either of the three to change the location of the bus stops," Allen said.

But board member Paul Kreager thought the inspections should have been done at bus pick-up time not between 9 and 11 a.m. as was done.

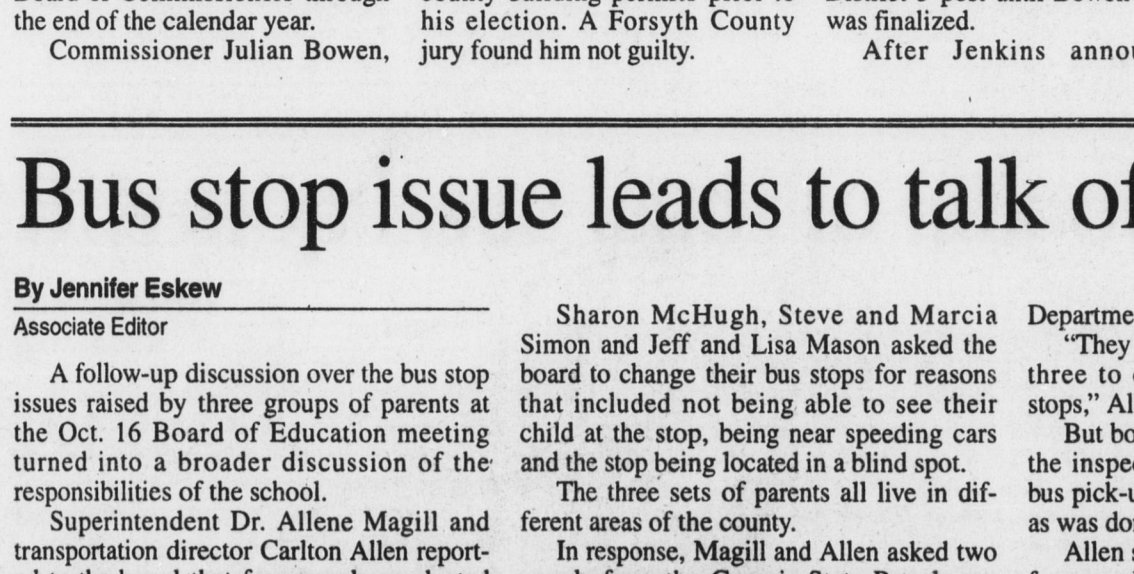

Allen said it would have been hard to get four people together three days in a row and felt they still received a good impression of the stops.

Kreager then said he was uncomfortable with strictly enforcing the .3-mile rule in every situation.

The rule states students can be required to walk .3-mile to a bus stop but in years past it has not always been enforced. The state sets the limit at one-half mile.

Allen said some exceptions have been made, naming one kindergarten student in a rural area near Lake Lanier, where it was

See BUS, Page 2A

Photos/Tom Brooks

With the return to Eastern Standard Time, Michael Bolin and Jamie Burks board Bus #9819 on Magnolia Avenue off Pilgrim Mill Road after the sun is up. Drivers are urged to remain watchful of buses.